What's New In Ship 039;s Clock?

The Time is Nautical, Running Clock. Two bells marking the half-hours. Intelligent, Adjustable Clock that is actually running while it looks static. Have you ever felt a very strong feeling of nostalgia when you see a steamboat or sailing ship? The timeless feel of sailing ships and old style steamboats is still quite common even today. I think it is because the ships really were a magnificent and powerful tool of the old world, which sometimes seem to express a feeling of reality. You can also see the change of the sea and sky, and the people working on the ships. And a ship passing by can be a good place to make a nice or interesting picture. I made the clock so that it looks like a ship's clock and make the impression as though you are on a ship in the old world. Please do not worry about the positioning of the dial. It is the nautical time display (horizontal position) that is in order. There are 6 methods of passing the time on the ship, so please have a little time to try each of them.
