What's New In NeoRouter Mesh Portable?

Simple to use and ready to use package. No need to install anything. Starting point: Virtual Private Network (VPN) is a means of providing secure internet access by using a third party. With the help of the tool you can connect to a server with the required information and anonymity. It is possible to use the service of a router or a computer that has been modified. For example, if the router has a dual network interface, you can connect to the interface of the second provider. Note: 1) If you set a server with external IP-s, you will be able to connect to this server. For internal access, use internal IP-s. 2) Using the default IP-address, the Internet access will be possible. Main features: 1) Zero-configuration No installers, no long-term parameters to be adjusted 2) Easy to install and start The application will start from the desktop when you click on it. It is not necessary to start it from the Windows start menu. 3) Hotkeys An additional, convenient way to start the program. With the help of shortcuts, you can run the application at the slightest need and by the most convenient way. For example, if you press Ctrl-Q, the program will be opened automatically. 4) The application uses the program identification and automatically deletes it from the system. This makes sure that there is no duplicate file. 5) Startup - automatic run The program will run automatically from the system startup 6) Support for 64-bit Windows versions Ability to run the program on both 32-bit and 64-bit systems 7) The application has a good response time to commands and minimal impact on system performance. 8) Plugins There are plugins that you can install and use. They make the operation easier. What's new: 1) Added an option to open the Settings form from the last place you had open it. 2) You can choose the keyboard layout during the installation. 3) Added options to specify the domain name and access authorization. 4) Added an option to specify the server port, if necessary. 5) Added a dynamic number of domains to a server. 6) Added an option to change the server IP address if necessary. 7) Added an option to specify the manual proxy settings. 8) Added an option to specify the automatic proxy settings. 9) Added an option to specify the application start form. 10) Added an option to specify the application icon. I ran into a problem with my computer. I was forced to rebuild it, so I bought a new 64 bit computer and installed NeoRouter Mesh on it. It seemed to work, but then when I restarted the computer it told me that I had to do a clean install. This time I was able to start the program
